

Problem Statement:

While train routes and times are publicly available information, students on USC's campus may not be able to find them easily.

Solution:

Create an app where times and routes of trains can be easily accessed by USC students so that they can know ahead of time which intersections to avoid.