A hand-drawn diagram of a mobile application screen. It features a rounded rectangle with a title bar at the top containing a small circle and a horizontal line. The main area contains the text "Please enter your starting and ending location below". Below this text are two rectangular input fields. The first field is preceded by the word "Start" and contains the text "type here". The second field is preceded by the word "End" and also contains the text "type here". A small circle is drawn at the bottom center of the screen, representing a home button or a similar UI element.
